

someone else's dream

the fan supervenes
my dream
a man hiding
a gun under an unbuttoned cream
collared shirt tilts
his head
towards the hum
he knows now
I let him
shoot me
to feel a sense of purpose and the elephant chained for 30 years sprints through grass
a golden hood ornament
glistens
as I wake

•